DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-6, 9, 10 and 13-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification does not adequately disclose a jaw including an aperture or an aperture extending through insulative material as recited by the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4, 9, 10 and 13-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mulier et al. (US 6096037). Mulier et al. disclose a device for clamping and ablating tissue comprising first and second handles, first and second opposing jaw members carrying an electrical conductive member, a surface for engaging tissue that comprises an insulative material (268) and an aperture extending through the insulative material (see figures 4 and 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mulier et al. Mulier et al. teach all of the limitations of the claims except the particular dimensions of the conductive member as claimed. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a conductive member comprising the dimensions as claimed since, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select the dimensions of a known device on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice.

Claims 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mulier et al. further in view of Imran. Mulier et al. teach all of the limitations of the claims except the conductive member comprising gold plated copper. Imran discloses an ablation device and teaches that it is old and well known in the art to use gold plated copper as a conductive material. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to select gold plated copper as the conductive material for the Mulier et al. device, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice, particularly in view of the teaching of Imran.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-6, 9, 10 and 13-21 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S.

Patent No. 6517536 in view of Mulier et al. '037. The claims of the '536 patent teach all of the limitations of the claims of the application except an aperture extending through an insulative material. Mulier et al. disclose a similar device that includes an aperture extending through an insulative material to maintain consistent maximal electrical contact areas. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide an aperture extending through an insulative material to maintain a maximal electrical contact area.
